TO ALL BODIES OF ELDERS

Re: District convention arrangements

Dear Brothers:

This letter replaces the letter dated December 14, 2009, to all bodies of elders regarding district convention arrangements. That letter should be removed from the congregation permanent file of policy letters and be destroyed.

The secretary in each congregation will oversee matters related to the district convention and will generate enthusiasm for it. When the annual congregation convention assignment letter is read to the congregation during the Service Meeting early in January, it should be announced that the secretary is caring for this responsibility. In the absence of the secretary, another qualified elder should handle these duties.

The secretary should follow through promptly on all the direction provided in correspondence from the convention headquarters regarding such matters as rooming and volunteer service. All elders, especially the secretary, should familiarize themselves with the instructions outlined in the annual letter to all bodies of elders regarding Service Meeting parts in connection with the district convention. Generally, when a convention letter is received for the congregation, an announcement should be made at the next Service Meeting stating that this has been placed on the noticeboard, mentioning the specific subject(s) it covers, such as parking, rooming, their cleaning assignment, and so forth. If a specific letter directs that it should be read to the congregation, that should be done.

PLEASE NOTE: The Special Needs Room Request (CO-5a) form will be available on the jw.org website for the secretary to download. A separate District Convention Headquarters Addresses (CO-5b) list will also be available on the site each year. That list should be printed and placed on the noticeboard. The secretary will print the Special Needs Room Request form and make it available only when asked for, rather than leaving a supply on a counter. For special needs he must have the Congregation Service Committee determine if there is truly a special need. The special needs provision is only for exemplary publishers, including their well-behaved children, who are approved by the service committee. When a legitimate need exists, the completed form should be signed by the secretary, the circumstances should be explained fully in the space on the form, and it should be sent to the appropriate convention headquarters on the list. Supplying this information is vital in caring for such special needs.

If the service committee determines that a publisher does not qualify to receive the form, the secretary can arrange for someone to give the publisher the help he needs to secure his own accommodations through the regular rooming arrangement. He may only require assistance in making reservations, transport arrangements, and so forth.

If the conduct of a publisher or a family member listed on the Special Needs Room Request form is in question, appropriate counsel should first be given to the individual by two members of the service committee to correct the problem. If the response is positive, the secretary can sign and forward the form. If the person does not respond to the counsel, the name of the individual can be removed, and he should be informed that he should obtain his own accommodations. Any others listed on the form can decide whether they still want the form sent in or prefer to make their own arrangements.

If publishers listed on the form are from different congregations, the form should be approved by each service committee and signed by the secretary of each congregation. The last secretary to handle the form will send it to the convention headquarters.

If a publisher needs accommodations for a convention in a country not shown on the District Convention Headquarters Addresses list, he may fill in the Special Needs Room Request form, have the secretary sign it, and send it to the branch office in that country. If a group wants to attend a convention in another country, it would be best if the secretary would write to the appropriate branch office requesting the needed information and/or forms.

Any deaf ones associated with your congregation will likely attend the sign-language convention. If any deaf publishers have special needs, the secretary can render assistance as outlined in this letter and in the special needs section of the annual letter to all bodies of elders regarding Service Meeting parts in connection with the district convention. This may involve their sending in a Special Needs Room Request form.

As the need arises, secretaries in convention cities will receive a supply of Accommodation (CO-4) forms from the convention to distribute when the publishers in their congregation are being requested to open their homes for those with special needs. Publishers offering their homes will obtain these forms from the secretary. The form should be filled in by the publisher and returned to the secretary, who will complete and return it to the convention headquarters.

The diligent efforts of the secretary will greatly help to coordinate convention matters and will assist in making the programme a spiritually upbuilding occasion. Your cooperation with these arrangements is appreciated very much. May Jehovah's rich blessings be with you as you prepare for the forthcoming district convention.

Your brothers,

PS to the secretary:

This letter should be retained in the congregation permanent file of policy letters. You may wish to update the congregation copy of Index to Letters—For Bodies of Elders (S-22) at this time as well.
